TRANSACTIONS INVOLVING MINORS, WOMEN'S FOOTBALL, FOOTBALL AGENCY. A COMPARATIVE APPROACH

TOPIC

This course, valid for the compulsory annual FIGC professional update, provides sports agents with a valuable opportunity to strengthen their expertise and stay up to date with the latest legal and regulatory developments shaping the football industry.

Designed from an international and comparative perspective, the programme explores best practices for managing transactions involving minors, the legal and regulatory framework of women's football, and the highest standards of professional ethics and integrity. Participants will also gain practical insights into the evolving regulatory landscape and the challenges that increasingly define the global football market.

The course consists of three on-demand sessions delivered by leading legal experts, experienced practitioners, institutional representatives, and prominent professionals from the football industry.

By combining legal analysis, practical case studies, and real-world experience, the programme offers a comprehensive and forward-looking understanding of the key issues that sports agents must navigate in today's increasingly complex football ecosystem.
